

$80,000 FIRE SWEEPS BARN AND CREAMERY AT THE FRIENDS FARM, ON LINCOLN HIGHWAY, EARLY TODAY; 235 COWS ARE LED WITH DIFFICULTY TO SAFETY

High Winds Make Fight Difficult for Firemen — Blaze Gotten Under Control Only to Break Forth Again — Water Pumped from Hydrants and Also Carted for Three Miles to Scene — Every Piece of Dairy Equipment is Lost in the Conflagration.

Fire did an estimated $80,000 worth of damage early this morning at the dairy farm of the Friends Hospital, Lincoln Highway, near Street Road, Bensalem Township.

All of the cattle was saved, and firemen from a wide surrounding area battled for four hours and water was still being poured into the smoldering ruins at noon today.

High winds made matters difficult for the firemen from numerous Bucks County companies, and although the blaze was practically under control at one time, it burst forth again with fury. Water was pumped from hydrants on the property and hauled to the scene in tank wagons.

A total of 235 head of cattle was removed from the dairy barn and placed in one of the meadows. The calves were safe in another building on the premises.

A passing truck driver is credited with giving the alarm, and Charles Brustle, manager of the farm, was notified at his home, 3/4 of a mile from the dairy barn, by telephone.

The blaze was discovered at three o'clock, and after a two-hour battle, firemen thought they had it under control, but three tank wagons in which water was being hauled three miles from Trevose to augment the hydrant supply, was exhausted at one time, and before additional water supply could be secured the fire had again burst into fury, licking everything within its path.

The structures were combination stone, cement block and frame. The creamery with sleeping quarters on the second floor, measured about 40x60 feet. This, complete with dairy equipment, was totally destroyed. Garage, 50x20 feet, was destroyed. The cow barn, 100x40 feet, which had two wings, is two-thirds destroyed. The main portion of the barn and one wing were completely destroyed, and the remaining wing was partly damaged.

QUAKERTOWN HOPES FOR SKATING POND

Will Become Reality Provided Elements Can Be Overcome

BILLS ARE PRESENTED

QUAKERTOWN, Dec. 13—Provided a shallow dam can be constructed Quakertown will have a community skating pond. The entire thing hinges on whether council can combat the elements and have the dam successfully constructed.

The large lot on Fourth street between Licking Run and Mill street, is the proposed site, and the highway committee has been instructed to make a survey and ascertain whether the ground, now frozen, can be graded and retaining banks made. If the ground can be worked, the committee is instructed to begin work immediately so that the shallow excavation can be flooded and frozen.

Such a pond, it was pointed out at the meeting of Council, will provide a safe place for skating, and the ice could be kept in smooth condition by repeated spraying or flooding. Council is heartily in favor of establishing such a recreational project for this town and will put forth every effort to make it a reality.

Expenses of the various borough departments for the month of November were: finance, $1,364.48; highway, $941.83; fire, $196.51; building, $139.44; health, $83.33; water, $2,364.53; sewer, $504.29; police, $827.97; electric light, $7,189.10.

UP-TO-PRESS-TIME WAR BULLETINS

(By International News Service)

GERMANS IN SUICIDAL DELAYING ACTION

Paris—Hard-pressed German forces today fought bitter, almost suicidal delaying actions in the face of powerful American onslaughts that stretched from the Roer to the Rhine rivers.

In a dawn surprise attack, the American First Army under command of Lieut. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges drove nearly a mile eastward from the Monschau line south of Duren while other First Army units fought through fast-falling flood waters in the town of Mariaweller which was overrun by a surprising and puzzling rise of the Roer River during the night. Farther south, the American Seventh Army drove toward the Rhine and the vital Reich industrial city of Karlsruhe which sprawled only 15 miles ahead of Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's troops.

Germans on the Rhine fought as stubbornly as their brethren on the Roer, however, and reports from General Patch's headquarters disclosed that elements of two Nazi divisions resisted as rear guard forces while the enemy's main body withdrew into Rhine River Siegfried line defenses.

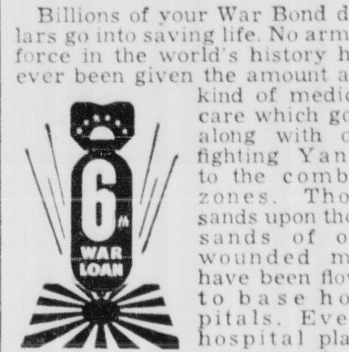

RAINS SLOW BUDAPEST DRIVE

Moscow—Torrential rains and strongly-prepared defenses in the outskirts of the city slowed the Soviet drive into Budapest today.

The Germans taking advantage of a deluge which swamped the battlefields in the outskirts of the Hungarian capital, stepped up the intensity of their delaying action in Budapest to give the Wehrmacht time to regroup its defenses of Vienna.

The Germans obviously have become convinced that the fall of Budapest is now a matter of days. The Moscow radio today reported that the Nazis fear even Vienna soon would fall before the tide of the Red Army advance.

To the People of this Community

Billions of your War Bond dollars go into saving life. No armed force in the world's history has ever been given the amount and kind of medical care which goes along with our fighting Yanks to the combat zones. Thousands upon thousands of our wounded men have been flown to base hospitals. Every hospital plane represents a $125,000 expenditure. In the Pacific war thousands of these planes will be needed.

Bonds for mercy and bonds for survival are without question closer to you than bonds for any other reason. With victory, you want as many men from this community as humanly possible to come home safely. The extra Sixth War Loan $100 War Bond you buy today has healing powers along with fighting strength.

The GI Bill of Rights, which is your guarantee to our fighting men that their rehabilitation needs will not be neglected, is an empty gesture unless it is backed up by your War Bond dollars.

THE EDITOR.

WESTERN TURKEYS FOR CHRISTMAS DINNERS ARE BEGINNING TO ARRIVE IN SOME SECTIONS OF STATE -- MORE THAN AT THANKSGIVING

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13—Western turkeys for Christmas dinners are beginning to arrive in some sections of Pennsylvania, and it is expected by the Bureau of Markets, State Department of Agriculture, that they will be available in greater numbers than for Thanksgiving in the metropolitan areas.

At the same time the Bureau, as the result of surveys this week, said that relief from the current shortage of top grade fresh eggs is in sight. Receipts and sales at co-operative egg auctions in the State made a substantial jump last week and the increase is being maintained this week. According to E. J. Lawless, Jr., in charge of the poultry and egg division of the Bureau, this is a definite indication that hens and pullets on Pennsylvania farms have started the early winter increase in eggs laid.

The influx of turkeys for the Christmas trade is in keeping with previous expectations of the Bureau of Markets, that there would be few birds for Thanksgiving, but more for Christmas. However, it is said there is little hope that the supply will meet the demand for the holidays.

Mr. Lawless reported that one Pennsylvania retailer had just received more than thirty tons of blood-and-feather dressed turkeys, and that other dealers and packing houses are expecting heavier shipments from the West. Due to the shortage of labor, relatively few full-dressed birds will be available.

Reports from producers indicate that they are having no difficulty in getting orders direct from consumers. But they are experiencing difficulty in filling the orders.

Inductions Halt During Holidays

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13—State Selective Service headquarters announced today that inductions will be suspended in Pennsylvania on Christmas and New Year's days. Local boards were instructed to close their offices on Christmas Day but to keep them open on New Year's Day.

The notice added that offices may be closed and employees excused not earlier than two hours in advance of the usual closing time Saturday, December 23rd.

Recent instructions issued by State headquarters prohibited local boards from halting inductions throughout the holiday season.

The State draft system is awaiting detailed instructions for carrying out new Federal orders stepping up drafting of men between 26 through 37 and re-classifying those of the same age group who have quit war jobs for non-essential employment.

However, a spokesman declared recent orders for Pennsylvania local boards to tighten up on occupational deferments, "accomplished approximately the same purpose."

Croydon Area Purchases $28,225 in War Bonds

CROYDON, Dec. 13—The weather Monday night had some effect on the size of the audience at the Ritz Theatre premiere in co-operation with the Sixth War Bond Campaign. However, the theatre was comfortably filled and the audience gave enthusiastic reception to the well balanced program under the direction of Miss Beth Tyler.

Admission by purchase of a war bond for adults caused little trouble as the Girl Scouts had done a nice job of selling, but Mrs. Alice Shaw and Mrs. V. Hillard felt rather "stuck up" when they had to affix a war stamp in the books of the children for admission.

In order to permit awarding of prizes at the conclusion of the war bond campaign it has been arranged by the Ritz management to use Monday night, December 18th, for that purpose. Andrew Mazzanti, manager, donated cash prizes; and an American Legion medal will be awarded.

An innovation Monday night was the usherettes, dressed in white. Ellen and Dorothy Kentzler, Catherine Smith, Ruth Tyler and Rita Vincent, who were largely responsible for the particularly good behavior of the boys and girls in the audience.

The War Bond Committee thanks the talented people who did so much to make the following program a grand success:

Singing, "Star-Spangled Banner," audience; soft-shoe dance, Dolores Founds; solo, "God Bless America," Joan Braker; accordion selections, Lola Buck; remarks, James E. Harris; solo, Mrs. Otto Grupp; military dance, Dolores Founds; accordion selections, Lola Buck; piano selections, Torb Harrington.

Croydon area has raised $28,225 up to but not including the premiere receipts at the Ritz. The picture shown was "Road to Morocco."

Eat More Fish As Meat Supply Grows Lean

Uncle Sam is advising families to eat more fish as meat supplies grow more lean. There's good nourishment in fish for it contains important proteins, minerals and vitamins.

There need be no dishwashing difficulties with lingering fishy odors if porcelain-on-steel enameled utensils are used when cooking or baking fish. Enameled utensils are non-porous and fish odors cannot be absorbed. They wash off easily simply with soap and water.

Broiled Mackerel
Wash the mackerel and split it in half. Season the fish with salt and pepper and place in a well greased enameled pan in a broiling oven. Broil on both sides until tender. Place on a hot platter and sprinkle with cayenne. Serve with a sauce made by melting 3 tbsp. butter or substitute and the juice of one-half lemon.

Have a "Coke" = Merry Christmas

...adding refreshment to holiday cheer

The spirit of Christmas is friendliness—a time to get together with friends and family. There's a whole story of hospitality in the three words Have a "Coke"—three words that express a friendly spirit the whole year 'round. Yes, Coca-Cola and the pause that refreshes are everyday symbols of a way of living that takes friendliness for granted.
